

Blood clotting problems in critically ill COVID-19 patients

New research approach links blood clotting measurements with actual patient outcomes

