

Announcing the Commission on Cancer 2023 Cancer Research Paper Competition

The Commission on Cancer (CoC) and American Cancer Society are hosting a paper competition for physicians-in-training to foster the importance of oncologic research in support of its mission. Papers can be submitted under one of the two following categories: CLINICAL RESEARCH or BASIC SCIENCE. First, second and third place winners will be selected from each category.

CoC Mission

The Commission on Cancer is a consortium of professional organizations dedicated to improving survival and quality of life for cancer patients through standard- setting, prevention, research, education, and the monitoring of comprehensive quality care.

Eligibility

- The competition is open to all Residents and fellows-in-training. Medical students are not eligible.
- The abstract topic MUST be specific to oncology and related to the mission of the Commission on Cancer.
- To be eligible for presentation at a national level, abstracts submitted may have been previously presented at local or regional meetings, but not national meetings. Abstracts cannot be previously published or under consideration for review of publication in a national journal.

Requirements

- Only abstracts – not full papers – will be accepted.
- Abstracts must be submitted in either the Clinical Research or Basic Science category.
- Limit is 250 words with one (1) figure or table.
- Abstracts will be accepted through July 7, 2023.

Judging Criteria

Clinical Research: originality, scientific merit, clinical relevance to oncology and the mission of the CoC.

Basic Science: originality, scientific method, technical complexity, and potential to be translated into practice.

Awards and Presentation of Papers

The national award winners from each category, clinical research and basic science, will be announced by September 1, 2023.

First place winners will each receive:

- $1,000 honorarium (plus travel expenses if travel is required).
- An opportunity to present their research to a national audience at the CoC Plenary session in October 2023.

Second and third place winners will each receive:

- $500 cash award

All winners:

- Will provide a recording of their research presentation that will be posted to the American College of Surgeons' website.
- Are required to submit their research for publication after the CoC Plenary in the Journal of the American College of Surgeons. (Acceptance is not guaranteed)
