Fellowship Pledge

Recognizing that the American College of Surgeons seeks to exemplify and develop the highest traditions of our ancient profession, I hereby pledge myself, as a condition of Fellowship in the College, to live in strict accordance with its principles and regulations.

I pledge myself to pursue the practice of surgery with honesty and to place the welfare and the rights of my patient above all else. I promise to deal with each patient as I would wish to be dealt with if I were in the patient's position, and I will set my fees commensurate with the services rendered. I will take no part in any arrangement, such as fee splitting or itinerant surgery, which induces referral or treatment for reason other than the patient's best welfare.

Upon my honor, I declare that I will advance my knowledge and skills, will respect my colleagues, and will seek their counsel when in doubt about my own abilities. In turn, I will willingly help my colleagues when requested. Finally, I solemnly pledge myself to cooperate in advancing and extending the art and science of surgery by my Fellowship in the American College of Surgeons.

George F. Sheldon, MD, FACS, a general surgeon from Chapel Hill, NC, will be installed this evening as the 79th President of the American College of Surgeons. Dr. Sheldon is currently the Zack D. Owens Distinguished Professor of Surgery and Professor and Chair of the Department of Surgery at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill School of Medicine.

A native of Salina, KS, Dr. Sheldon received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Kansas in 1957, where he was student body president and also was a member of the faculty as an assistant instructor in Western civilization. He received his medical doctorate from Kansas University Medical School in 1961, where he received the L. L. Marcell Award for Highest Academic Standing in Medicine, was elected vice-president of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society, and was awarded runner-up status in the Osler contest for medical history. After an internship at Kansas University Medical Center, Dr. Sheldon entered service in the United States Public Health Service, serving in the Uniformed Services branches of the Marine Hospital System, where he served as senior assistant surgeon (Lieutenant), 1962–1963, and surgeon (Lieutenant Commander), 1963–1964. Following service, he attended the Mayo Clinic in 1964–1965 as a Fellow in Internal Medicine. He completed a residency in surgery at the University of California, San Francisco Medical Center (1965–1969) under a former President and Chair of the Board of Regents of the American College of Surgeons, J. Engelbert Dunphy, MD, FACS. During his residency, Dr. Sheldon received the Helmut Fesca Award for Outstanding Resident. Following his residency, he became a research fellow in surgical biology at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital at Harvard University (1969–1971), serving in the laboratory of a Vice-President of the American College of Surgeons (Francis D. Moore, MD, FACS). Following that fellowship, he became assistant professor in the Department of Surgery at the University of California School of Medicine in 1975, becoming professor in 1980. At San Francisco General Hospital, he was Chief of Trauma and Hyperalimentation Services. Dr. Sheldon assumed his current position as professor and chair of the Department of Surgery at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill in 1984 and was named the Zack D. Owens Distinguished Professor of Surgery at the University.

Dr. Sheldon became a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons in 1973 and has been an active participant in the College activities since that time. He was elected to the Board of Governors in 1976 and served on the Executive Committee and as Secretary of the Board of Governors (1979–1982). He served as Chair of the Governor’s Committee to Study the Fiscal Affairs of the College. Between 1984 and 1993, he served on the American College of Surgeons Board of Regents. As a member of the Board of Regents, he chaired the Communications Committee and became Editorial Advisor for the Bulletin of the American College of Surgeons. He has served on many committees of the College, including Scholarships Committee (1975–1989), Finance Committee (1979–1982), and the Committee on Trauma (1982–1987). He chaired the task force on Fragmentation and Turf Problems Retreat in 1991 and has been a participant and course organizer for more than 15 courses at the annual Clinical Congress. Dr. Sheldon delivered the Scudder Oration on Trauma in 1991 and presented the Opening Ceremony Lecture at the Clinical Congress in 1978. He has been active in the College’s local chapters, first in Northern California and secondly in the North Carolina Chapter of the College. He was also Vice-Chair of the Surgical Research and Education Committee of the American College of Surgeons and was Vice-Chair under William Longmire, MD, FACS, former President and Chair of the Board of Regents of the American College of Surgeons, of the Joint Council on Surgical Research, which has been absorbed into the Surgical Research and Education Committee.

Dr. Sheldon has had many leadership responsibilities in a variety of organizations. He was secretary and then president (1984) of the American Association for the Surgery of Trauma and this past year gave the Fitt Oration on Trauma for that organization. He was secretary and then president (1994) of the American Surgical Association.

He was a charter member of the federally mandated Council on Graduate Medical Education, one of 16 members selected at the founding of that organization in 1985. He was certified by the American Board of Surgery in 1970 and received added certification in Surgical Critical Care in 1986. He became a director of the American Board of Surgery in 1983 and was elected chairman of the American Board of Surgery, serving between 1989 and 1990. Dr. Sheldon served on the Residency Review Committee for Surgery of the Accreditation Council on Graduate Medical Education from 1978 to 1984 and chaired its Committee on Vascular Surgery. He continues to serve on the Standing Panel for Accreditation Appeals at the present time. Dr. Sheldon also was a member of the Surgery Subtest Committee of the National Board of Medical Examiners, serving between 1981 and 1984.

Dr. Sheldon has had a strong participation in the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) and served on its landmark Committee on the Graduate and Professional Education of a Profession in 1983 and 1984. He also served on the Committee on Teaching in the Ambulatory Setting. He currently is serving as chair of the Council of Academic Societies Administrative Board. He also serves on the AAMC’s Committee on Health Workforce, Committee on Gender Equity, and also the Committee on PATH Audits. He was recently appointed to a task force on clinical research, a combined committee of the AAMC and the American Medical Association, and to the Board of Directors of Alpha Omega Alpha Honors Medical Society.

Dr. Sheldon has been active in the Institute of Medicine (IOM) of the National Academy of Sciences and was elected to membership in that organization in 1996. He has served on the Committee on Employer Based Health Insurance, the Task Force to Evaluate Healthcare Technology Assessment, and the Committee on US Physician Supply. He is currently serving on the IOM Committee on Resuscitation Fluid Design and Resuscitation Protocols for Combat Casualties.

Dr. Sheldon’s research activities have been in three areas. He led the research group that established that the route of nutrition, be it intravenous or oral, was essential in maintaining the integrity of the host defense mechanisms. He has published in the clinical management of patients with injury. Dr. Sheldon has published more than 200 scientific articles and coauthored eight books. Dr. Sheldon serves on the editorial boards of Annals of Surgery, the Journal of Trauma and Critical Care, the American Journal of Surgery, and the Journal of the American College of Surgeons.

He has participated actively in health services research, being an acknowledged expert on surgical workforce, with the result that he has been invited to testify before Congress and other federal agencies. He served as chairman of the Merit Review Board for the Surgery Veterans Administration between 1981 and 1983. He has served on the American Institute of Biological Science Biologic Science Research Review since 1984.
Dr. Sheldon was a member of the Board of Overseers of the Alumni Association at the University of Kansas. He has received a number of special awards, including the National Safety Council’s Surgeons’ Award for Distinguished Service to Safety, the Douglass Stubbs Lecture Award of the National Medical Association, and the Parker Heath Award of the American Medical Association (Section on Ophthalmology).

Dr. Sheldon is an Honorary Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh, an Honorary Fellow of the Association of Surgeons of Great Britain and Ireland, and an Honorary Fellow of the European Surgical Association. He is a member of the James IV Association of Surgeons and is listed in Who’s Who in America.

Dr. Sheldon’s 15-year tenure as chair of the Department of Surgery at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill has been a period of vigorous growth for that department in that institution. During that period of time, many new programs have been established, and operative volume in the institution has tripled. His department is proud of its preeminence in teaching, having been awarded by vote of the medical students in 1995 both the best basic science course as well as the best clinical course. Books authored or coauthored by Dr. Sheldon include Clinical Surgery published by Mosby, a two-volume book, coedited with John Davis, the 1991 recipient of the College’s Distinguished Service Award. A Pictorial History of Kansas Medicine was published in 1961 when Dr. Sheldon was a medical student; the book by Ridky and Sheldon, Managing in Academics: Health Center Model, has been widely used.
