Dear "Eleanor Grimm,"

Many thanks for your offer to help. The emergency has past. It has been a terrible catastrophe, a frightful rending asunder of one's professional family.

The Chief is quite all right. He and Dr. Lower were out of the building at the time of the accident. Dr. Crile's courage, as you know, is indomitable, his morale above par.

The Hospital and Research Building were untouched. Already temporary headquarters are established, and Dr. Crile has a list of work. Last night we began to move across the street, where we can carry on until the building is re-constructed.

Again thanking you for your message, I am

Sincerely yours,

Eleanor Crile

My dear Mrs. Grumm.

It has been so long since I've had the gift of volute, I almost danced with glee. Mr. Crowell didn't wear his Easter flowers. But I saw him with an expansive smile upon his face & felt I knew what set it off.

Mrs. Mason is better. Ed has been staying in all day - Miss had a lovely day. The Chief & I actually stayed in bed until noon & read aloud, then a lovely ride on the bay, a drive with the Schenkens and Sunday supper with Dr. Mrs Lynch who kept us in fits of laughter or in the depths of tragedy over his Dust Tales.

I think Dr Cule's remark when I asked him if he knew Dr Lynch - "I do if he is the man who talks a

Wm missed you & Dr MacEachern.
The troop always feels a bit lost when

It makes me homesick to read the New Orleans and Los Angeles report. Doctor Engel will be well primed and I believe you will find that he will give a good account of himself.

In case I should turn up accidentally by plane you would not expel me from the meeting would you?

Tell me about the motion picture. You refer, I suppose, to a film already made. We will make an appointment for 6000 years from now to see the film presented. I invite you now for that occasion.

Dear Miss Grimm:-

Just a line to tell you that Dr. Ruedemann operated on the right eye day before yesterday, and the report this morning, that although the Chief was uncomfortable he was not in pain and Dr. Ruedemann, after the dressings said that everything was one hundred per cent, is fine news.

We shall not get as much benefit from this eye as from the left one, as it was this eye that suffered some injury when Dr. Crile had his horseback accident many years ago, causing a severe hemorrhage in this eye and finally interfering somewhat with the circulation, which undoubtedly has been the cause of a central blind spot. However, we expect this operation will give peripheral vision again, which the cataract was obscuring, and this will be a great help.

The other eye can be done in two months' time, and as the vision is in no way impaired in that eye, we hope for much improvement.

It is a great comfort to feel that we are half way up the hill, but it is really quite a siege to go through. It is so hard to lie perfectly still, flat on one's back, and to deflate all the dynamic energy that such a person as the Chief has. I never before realized how much he gestures with his hands. One is conscious of it only when he is not allowed to use his hands.

The Chief will be in the hospital a week longer, probably, and then home. Of course, you know the readjustment to light, and varying glasses until finally the correct ones are found, are difficult; but Doctor Ruedemann says it will not keep the Chief away from the Clinic and the research, for which I am glad.

The Chief said he would sell leisure to any one for fifteen cents! I think his worst fear is that he might possibly look like a Russian, Not being allowed to shave or be shaved, to brush his hair or have it brushed, have been great problems for him.

My love to all of you. I just wanted you to know the situation.

Yours cordially,

I am glad to hear that you are well and hope you are enjoying the day before yesterday. I am sorry that you were not in pain and Dr. Knudsen, after the operation said that everything was one hundred per cent, in line now.

Dear Miss Grimm:-

Your letter came this morning.

Yesterday was an awfully uncomfortable day, and the night a restless one. So I am not going to take the matter up with the Chief until he is more comfortable. The day of the operation he spoke of it and at that time was very loathe to go ahead with the film, much as he appreciated it. When he spoke to me he had the idea that it was a goiter film.

I feel that if we can just let the matter rest, he will have a much more optimistic point of view about it, but as I told you the other day, this winter will have to be given up to getting well, for if this goes as we hope it will go -- and Dr. Ruedemann is satisfied thus far -- then in two months we will have to do it over again for the other eye. So you can see that we cannot make many plans, not even for New Orleans, now as he will be handicapped until he gets the final glasses.

Please understand that I am writing this on my own. Personally, I am for it one hundred per cent. I think it is a beautiful tribute to Dr. Crile, and I think to do it in the Clinic is a wonderful idea and one that I feel may have an appeal to him.

As for the book, we cannot do anything about that at present. The material is there, but it is not whipped into final shape, and has been dropped for the last couple of months as a new angle of research has absorbed him.

My love to all, and he would send it too, did he know I were writing.

Cordially yours,

Grass Crile

Miss Eleanor Grimm;

Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Miss Grimm:-

This has been a rocky road. Of course, as I told you, owing to the accident of about twelve years ago, we knew that we were dealing with devitalized tissue to a certain extent, as due to the hemorrhage at the time of the accident, the change in the circulation had brought about degeneration of the nerve with a loss of sight. All that we could possibly gain from that eye was a perception of light and darkness in the peripheral vision. Some persons advised us not to attempt it as there would not be enough gained; but to George's mind, and Dr. Bruner's, and Dr. Ruedemann's, it was worth attempting because if we could gain even a peripheral sense of light and darkness, and if he reacted well to the operation, we would dare go ahead with the other eye where the sight has not been impaired, but the cataract is slowly forming.

In the good eye he still can see. To be sure, it is a little filmy, but he senses space, recognizes people and objects, and can read headlines.

We all knew the problem was the devitalized tissue. The operation went finely, and the first couple of days went finely; but ever since, we realized that there was not enough circulation for the tissue to regenerate. The argument was much like this: The war taught us there was no use fiddling with devitalized tissue. Excision-revision was the only answer, as otherwise it took too many weeks of struggle, often with the wearing down of the patient. The Chief felt that in his own case it was not wise to take weeks in bed, as the sacrifice would not be worth the gain; in fact, enucleation would mean no real loss so far as the sight was concerned, as the sight in that eye was gone anyway. So that was done yesterday afternoon and has given great relief.

From the first, he has not reacted well; that is, he just cannot take drugs. In order to bring more circulation, they did the routine of giving a typhoid inoculation. That knocked him out. Then, the tissue being so devitalized, they felt they should guard against all danger of infection; so gave sulphanilimide and that knocked him out. Cocaine just puts him into shock. Even the slightest dose of morphine brings a terrific reaction. Codeine makes him sick. He has always been very sensitive to all narcotics and stimulants, and even the ordinary narcotic in the eye at dressing would produce an immediate inflammation in the tissues.

I am sure you will feel a sort of shock at enucleation, as I did at first, but after all, nothing is lost and everything is gained, as it will mean out-of-the-woods quicker for him, and that is all that any of us care about. With the slightest whiff of gas, and just about three minutes for the operation, it was all over, and he was optimistic. Even five hours afterward he said he felt like a different man. He was free from pain, which has meant so much, as he has had continual pain and near-nausea ever since the operation for the removal of the cataract.

We will keep you in touch. In the meantime, love to you all from both of us.

Sincerely,

Grace Crile

Mrs. George Crile.

Needless to say, the Chief feels that nothing would be gained by speaking of the matter, as the situation is just the same as it was so far as vision is concerned.

Dear Mrs. Crile, -

The latest news from you was such very welcome news. My thoughts and prayers have been with you and the Chief. Though of course I have faith that my own prayers will be answered, I have greater faith in the efficacy of the prayers of children. On a number of occasions -- when there has been something extra-special that I have wanted to ask for -- I have enlisted the prayers of children in an orphanage in Pittsburgh. And their aid is being asked for the Chief.

Doctor MacEachern is in Los Angeles, arranging for the Sectional Meeting which is to be held there on January 29, 30, and 31. He will return the end of next week. Doctor Crowell has been spending an hour or two at the office for the past three days. He is hoping to spend a longer period of time here on an increasing schedule. Is it your wish that I shall tell them of Dr. Crile's indisposition? I shall of course want to do only what you would have me do.

In the hope that each day may show as much progress as the twenty-four hours of which you wrote in your note of yesterday, and with my love and best wishes to you both, believe me

Always sincerely yours,

Just a little story that The Chief may enjoy:

After the death of Pope Pius the Eleventh, there was considerable discussion by people of all faiths regarding his successor. One man said he didn't know who was to succeed the late Pope, but he hoped it would not be a Catholic, as they had held the job long enough.

Dear Miss Grimm:-

I have never been more touched and pleased with anything than with your letters, and not the least of which was your taking the trouble to give an account of the very nice plan you have for me. I was particularly interested in the notation made by Allan Kanavel. There, I think, is one of the finest influences that our organization ever had.

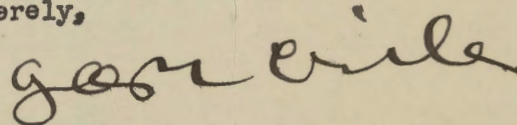

I am, of course, greatly flattered that it should be thought worth while to give the recognition to the research and Intelligence, Power and Personality, which is a combination of all that we have done all these years and in which we have put everything possible, including something more than $100,000. of money.

You can realize that I have been somewhat handicapped just recently, but I am back on the job again, going a little slowly, of course, as I have been advised to do.

I think what I shall do will be to develop a scenario which will carry the text and illustrative animals and organs. In recent weeks the work has taken on additional significance, which is perhaps more surprising than anything we have had, all of which can be illustrated in a movie.

With this goes my special appreciation to you and to everyone concerned in this matter at the office of the headquarters.

Sincerely,

George Crile.

P.S. Your story of the Pope is a priceless one, and without a doubt your miracle has worked perfectly, because no one here could understand the absolutely quick recovery I made and, to my discomfiture, I find I did not lose even a gram of weight while I was in the hospital.

The Chief is home, really benefitted, if anything, and is more fit than ever from his rest; in other words, nothing touches him. To me, he is just a magic personality.

I am so glad to know that Doctor Crowell has been spending an hour or two a day at the office, but hope he will go very carefully.

The Chief says there is no harm in mentioning his "indisposition" to Doctor Mac Eachern and Doctor Crowell, but, of course, we are just where we were before. He has had no vision from that eye for over five years and there may be compensation now in the other, as he does not have to put any energy into focusing the poor eye. Anyway, think of us as having no more problems. He is up and around, and Monday will go back to the Clinic, of course, with a dressing, but he will not be going to meetings until he can go about without a bandage.

With many many thanks for your nice letters, believe me

April 24, 1940

Dear Miss Grimm:

You will be broken-hearted, as I was, to hear that the Chief had an accident night before last. He tripped and fell, breaking the bone of his arm, right up near the shoulder. Fortunately it was a clean break and in no way displaced; so to set it did not necessitate manipulation nor even an anesthetic.

Of course, he is uncomfortable, but moderately so. The one problem is the left-over cough from a cold which he had three or four weeks ago. Due to this, he is staying in the hospital, and everyone wants him to stay there until he is absolutely normal, so far as the cough is concerned. In the hospital he can have steam and all the things that are helpful to that kind of condition.

In such situations one cannot dismiss the thought of pneumonia, but, on the other hand, his condition is in no way alarming and everyone feels he is going to beat this.

He is his usual cheerful self. He tells a killing story. You can imagine my surprise when I heard him say, "Well, I don't know much about it. Mrs. Crile and I were working late on the manuscript. We came to the place where we had a disagreement on a certain phrasing. The first thing I knew I was at the bottom of the stairs."

The truth of the matter is, we were expecting Bob and Sally who were motoring to Cleveland from Richmond and expected to be here late Monday night. The Chief was so eager to greet them that we decided to stay up and work. When it was half past twelve, we decided they were not coming, so we went downstairs to have some crackers and cheese and milk.

The Chief, who ordinarily is not particularly solicitous about housekeeping, for some reason or other picked up the cheese-box, and carried it out to the pantry, while I picked up the bottles and glasses.

The pantry door was closed and the door into the entry was open. He mistook his position and plunged down the entry stairs, head first. It was a miracle really that he did not injure his thigh or fracture his skull. He became jammed into the steps in such a way as to keep him from landing on the cement floor of the cellar.

Fortunately, it is his left arm, but, even so, it will mean a handicap for some time.

So, you see, we have lots and lots to be thankful for and I really think he is going to be all right, but I am sure he will never try to be tidy again!

I am writing to you, wholly on my own, because I feel quite certain that the Chief will not be able to consider going to Saint Louis.

Miss Rowland is better. She has changed all her plans, and, instead of going to California, she is going to Maine, where she will be in a little country house owned by a trained nurse whom Miss Rowland knows.

I dictated this at noon - Do' now night -
- In back hours after the day at the hospital.
Everything is fine. It is better, less coughing, not much pain, no opiates, + a normal temperature - so I feel quite confident that all is going to be well now -

I'm going to keep staying at the hospital until the cold is absolutely cured + no cough left! Don't + luck - I'm so glad

Dear Miss Grimm:-

I just this minute had a letter from Irvin Abell, and he told me the surprising news that you, for the first time in twenty-seven years, missed a meeting of the Board of Regents.

Inasmuch as this is the only meeting that I too have missed in twenty-seven years, I do hope these two items will be properly associated in peoples' minds!

Trusting that you are feeling quite yourself again, and that I shall see you soon, I am

Cordially yours,

Sunday -

Dear Miss Grimm -

You were a dear to wire Mother & Dad your message of love and then how cherry were your sister greetings this morning - In fact this is a glorious sister, for Dad yesterday from Washington - It was a great relief to mother to have them here - Dr. Emstine has since come down & is staying over next week & Barney & Janie are here for a while.

This little hospital has been wonderful and we have had such good nurses & such wonderful individual attention.

Mother can now walk over into Dad's room which has meant everything to them both.
Dad's pneumonia we feel is licked but its going to be a long pull before he gets over the effect of the terrible shock & jarring he had -

A thousand Thanks again for the joy your message brought.
The loving thoughts of old & dear friends has just meant everything to mother & Dad - ever cordially Margaret C. Garrison

we feel sure, made a definite turn for the better - so you can imagine how heart felt are our Hallelujahs -

Every department of the Clinic seemed to have a representative in Florida - Bill Engel came right over from Pompano & Russel Hadue
from the Keys & Gus Cusler

Cleveland.

Dear Miss Gannon -

I don't know where Mrs
Martin is - would you mind forwarding this.

You've all been so thoughtful in your many messages - We have fold your arms was about us - Bonney went home a few days ago but Margaret is staying to help these two old people home -

The Chief is up + about now - on crutches - but this morning he carried his right crutch in his hand, He said "for defense" but you see that means the left muscle in that leg can bear his weight, with just a little extra help

It is now getting out on the porch
+ if only the sun would shine + the wind stop blowing we could build up a coal of tan

But it all is coming out right - & altho I wouldn't recommend being whirled into a tornado in order to get an enforced rest. I do feel that this enforced rest has been very beneficial to him.

He has worked so hard & so constantly at research problems & the book. & you know when you get on that high level, you can't deflate Wall; he has deflated & the book is in the publishers hands & going nicely -

Anyway - all's well the world
I'm - & I'm just eternally grateful -

Lots of love & love & all of yr for us with - Don't forget any one - as you all have been so thoughtful -

Dear Eleanor Grimm,

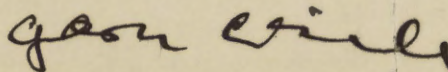

First of all, I embrace you!

During my stay at Vero Beach I had a great deal of time to think, and I concluded that one of the great services for the public, in view of the enormous improvement in hospitals and the enormous advances in surgery, has been the program of the American College of Surgeons. And it gives me a thrill to think how many of those who were at the inaugural ceremonies are still active and at work. The hospital program alone of the College I think will prove to be one of the greatest of all contributions, perhaps even greater than the standardization of surgery itself, its standards and its ethics.

I am looking forward with the keenest interest to the meeting in June, and especially to seeing you before the meeting, for I should like the privilege of showing you, and any others who may be here in advance of the meeting, our new museum. I have a brand new interest which I think will prove of interest both professionally and to the public.

I cannot tell you how much Mrs. Crile and I have appreciated your thought of us. We appreciated especially everything that came from Eleanor Grimm and Malcolm Mac Eachern. I have a feeling that you helped me over the hardest places.

Sincerely yours,

George Crile.

Dear Eleanor Grimm,

Just a line to say that I hope you will come right to the house next Saturday and make this your headquarters while you are here, for the Chief and I want to see as much as possible of you while you are here.

I am still in my room most of the day, but expect to be up more of the time each day; in fact, I am anticipating going to the opening of the Museum of Intelligence, Power and Personality on Monday evening.

I had a darling letter from Mrs. Martin the other day. Please give her my love when you see her.

With eager anticipation of your visit, believe me

Dear Eleanor Grimm:

First of all I embrace you. I had a little more time than usual to reminisce while I was in Florida, and my mind went back many, many times to my long, successful, interesting and thrilling experience with the American College of Surgeons, and that is synonymous with Eleanor Grimm.

Thank you for sending the material on Dr. Yodice. Dr. Beck was very glad to receive the data.

I am just looking forward to the day when we meet again, and that will be very soon now.

Dear Miss Gumm:

I'm so sorry that

Dear Mrs Gumm
Some one was good enough to send me a copy of Dr. Abello's review of George Cole.
I was so pleased over it -
& of course wrote them - immediately. The traps had

I agree with you that for many years you worked much longer than a 24 hour day. It's amazing when one gets excited up to carrying such loads what fun it is to how exciting it one doesn't realize the excess work until the break comes, & one tries to pick it up again.

Don't get too portly - but on I hope to go to Barb in May

I can't drive a car as yet and climbing a flight of stairs is about a day's work. However when I look back, even from week to week, the progress seems a miracle. I hope you are feeling better now in Cornwall - as Mac & I understand looks wonderfully which means very to the fact many thanks for sending the review. It was a rewarding moment when I read Susan's Cilla

Our talored Dan Quiring who to be in Chicago next Monday &

I have asked him to see you & Miss Prentiss, as there are a to go over with you. Please let him see Dr. Cule's portrait

He is continuing his work at the go to Virgin Islands etc to get some soon expect to go south to see

Dear Miss Gumm:
may I acknowledge all the invitations that bring such a flow of memorias - informally + tell you how sorry I am that I cannot attend the meeting in New York this year? I've been knocking about the country a lot lately. from Bob in Virginia & Elizabeth in Tenn. & way up to Canada & just now am doing winding up jobs on the book.

I love to keep in touch with all the old ways, & although there is great gladness that comes with all the memories, there is also overwhelming sadness. That takes readjustment again!
Perhaps if George & I hadn't worked so. in each others project it wouldn't be so!

Love my dear. I really love you all. & please never come through Cleveland without stopping to see me. Why don't you stop off for a five days visit after the meeting. I can give you a room & bath. all to yourself and there are

MRS. GEORGE CRILE

so many things we could talk about.

As the time draws near for George Crile to be a finished product so far as a book is concerned, I'm almost frightened. I have felt so deeply the dedication of a task - know how really incomplete it is - yet so much want those who knew the Chief to feel that it adds something to their memories of him.

We have so many problems at the clinic - The need of a new director or President in Daoust's place, a new head of the medical service for Haden will be retiring next year, filling Dr McDonald's corner who died suddenly a few weeks ago. Really with the expansion & the changes & changes in organization must come.

Miss White is ill & in a hospital.
a stroke. but she is recovering.
I think changes will have to come in their set up too. I feel some Miss

White can't go on - carrying what she did before & Army just can't see to do things safely. Age - is a sal thing! I so wish they'd be willing to settle down in with the Catholic sisters, in a lovely surronment - home & grounds - just outside of Cleveland. I think I will have to come, but at present it is hard for them to change their minds. My love & gratitude to each & every one of you. Do stop - on your way back.
Grace Cull.

Dear Mrs. Trumm.

Please give postal from the for wiel. My: how memories beamed & Dr. Mac said you were not so well when he called me by telephone. I hope the rest was beneficial. You had had so many adaptations to make - they are hard to take time + courage.

I'm so glad the Congress is meeting here. altho so near Christmas seems a bad time for travel down it - with hundreds of school + college children on the way home.

The "Interstate" had a good meeting here. Not so large as they expected but a good & enthusiastic turn out. I attended a few. but feel a million years out of it. Dr Sullivan asked me to the dinner & family cocktail party which was a great pleasure - as I know the maid group so well. At dinner I sat next to the Bretschmies

I always liked him. & he wrote me a friendly note afterwards that warmed my heart. I was proud of Barney. He had a fine paper - & did it perfectly. The Chief would have been proud of him. So many people spoke of it. & it was new work. Did you see the editorial the other day in the A.M.A. on his work on penicillin. It gave me a real thrill.

The family are all well. Hair gotten over two terrible humps this summer that came out well - Barney's daughter & Elizabeth's little baby foot that was caught in the tractor ripping off the sole to the bones - had plastic surgery is wonderful. The sole grew - He tried on too way down to ground at the foot & the part that was ground to a mass in the sole of the foot at the base of heel two has filled in & he isn't lame, now after 3 months. So I'm infinitely grateful. I'm well, busy still on my opus, which I'll get off now & then long. Don't compare to the one on Harvey Cushing - mine is a detective's story.

I shall want to see you when you are here.
Will you have any time or will you be hounded at the hotel every minute. Any way if you can't come to me, I'll come to you - will have a visit together or dinner together somehow - if you'll just tell me - how! Love always - Grace Cole -

Dear Eleanor Gumm
Give me a thought now & then - as there are few days that I do not think of you & the wonderful role you have played in the "golden age of surgery"

Tuesday Afternoon

Dear Jane and Barney, -

On my return after a week-end away from Chicago, the precious remembrance of the Chief and his great lady awaited me. I was overwhelmed when Barney told me what it was to be. This remembrance links me not only with the Chief and his lady, but also with you two whose life and career I have been watching -- and with admiration.

I can only say - Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

In the hope that our paths may cross frequently, and that the future may hold for both of you an abundance of happiness, believe me

Sarasota, Florida

Dear Miss Grimm:

It was good to hear from you and to learn that you have had such a nice cruise to the south.

Those American College of Surgeons meetings have gotten so huge that it's almost impossible to even decide what part of the meeting you want to go to, and so I do not always go unless I am on the program. I will certainly make it a point however to look for you at the next one.

In the meantime, my very best wishes for the season, and thank you again for your note.

Sincerely,

George Crile, Jr., M. D.
